

The Temecula Valley Historical Society Presents:

An Old-Time Barbecue

Sunday, October 23, 2005
1:00 – 5:00 p.m.

At the Moramarco Ranch on old Pale Road

This property nestled in the foothills of Palomar Mountain was once part of the Pechanga Indian Reservation and was later owned by the pioneer Escallier Family. Since purchasing the ranch, John and Beverly Moramarco have revived the essence of the historic property that features ancient coastal oak trees, 130-year-old grape vines and olive trees, and artifacts from the Old Vail Ranch, early California farming and winemaking.

Come to Enjoy

A catered barbecue under three magnificent old oak trees,
A walking tour of the ranch,
And a history talk about the Escallier Family
(Western Attire is encouraged)
